Leyla Jouvana and Roland

Winner of the Giza award for best soloist, Leyla found her way to Oriental dance via Yugoslav folkloric dances and Jazz – and she's never looked back since!. After studying intensively in Egypt with some of the best names in the business, Leyla began her solo career and was soon well known both nationally and internationally. With numerous appearances on TV and on stage worldwide under her (coin)belt, Leyla is an authority on the German dance scene and often called on to give interviews to the international press, who rate her as one of the most sought after international performers and instructors working today. Leyla produces a range of instructional dance videos and runs one of the largest and most successful dance schools in Europe. Currently 300 dancers study under her care from beginner's level right through to masterclass . She still finds time to travel though, bringing the dance to Europe accompanied by her husband Roland on percussion and her own ensemble. Her appearances at galas and events as a performer and teacher have taken her to Paris, Nice, Marseilles, Rouen, Rennes, Caen, Turin, Florence, Sicily Cairo, Brüssels, Vienna, Salzburg, Prague, Budapest, Turkey, Holland, New Mexico's „Shake&Bake Festival“, L.A and. Hollywood, New York, Boston, San Francisco, Atlanta, Sacramento, Zürich, Basel, New Delhi, Madrid, Adelaide - and that's only some of them!. In the UK Leyla wowed audiences at the JOY dance festival in Yorkshire both with her shimmies and her sellout workshops and also taught with the Belly Dance Superstars at Raqs Britannia in Blackpool. Last but not least, Leyla is the organiser of one of the largest international dance festivals, held in Duisberg every autumn and which draws up to 4,500 attendees!

Roland is acknowledged to be one of the best tabla players on the international performance circuit today and has accompanied Leyla on stage since the early days of her career. Despite all that success he never stops learning, and expanding his repertoire and has recently added learning the congas to his other accomplishments!.

As a husband and wife team, Leyla and Roland were awarded the 2004 Halima Prize
